FOR LIFE: Once the initial investment has been made, you will be able to enjoy holidays at a relatively low cost, and you can take a few of your home comforts with you.

Have the freedom to roam in style

WITH the country now officially in a deep recession, many families will be rethinking their holiday plans.

Surveys show that most people still intend to go on holidays, but in the current uncertain economic climate, less people will be jetting off around the world.

When someone mentions the word caravan, for many people it induces a flashback to a wet and miserable holiday from their childhood. But modern caravans bear no resemblance to those of 30 years ago.

Caravans now have bathrooms of the first order. Chrome fittings, proper flushing toilets, separate shower cubicles and heated running water are the norm.

The average kitchen set up now includes gas or electric hobs, a microwave oven and a reasonably sized fridge. Motorhomes offer similar, so you needn't go without your creature comforts or your favourite electronic gadget or games console.

Caravan and motorhome holidays are incredibly popular, for many they offer choice, freedom and flexibility. You can go anywhere you like whenever you choose and makes a more comfortable alternative to a tent.

Touring caravans are great for those who like to pitch up and use the car to explore local amenities, while the motorhomes offer great mobility and are more appealing to those who do not wish to tow anything.

Another reason these holidays have become so popular is that once the initial investment has been made, you will be able to enjoy holidays at a relatively low cost, so it may be worth considering for the future. Make sure you do not miss out on a holiday this year.

Whether you choose to go abroad, or stay in the UK, with a caravan or a motorhome you can take a piece of your home with you.
